"Contract" the contract made or to be made between the Company and the Buyer;

"Goods" any goods or services agreed to be provided by the Company to the Customer in the Contract.

2. General

2.1 Acceptance of any tender made by the Company shall not constitute a contract, but shall constitute an offer by the Customer to contract on the terms thereof. No contract shall be constituted until the Company, by confirmation in writing, accepts such an offer.

2.2 All goods sold and services provided are provided by the Company upon the terms and conditions herein stated unless otherwise agreed in writing. By accepting a tender, the Customer will be deemed to have agreed that any printed conditions attached to his order form are only binding so far as they are not at variance with the Company's own written conditions. Clerical errors are subject to correction.

2.3 The Customer shall indemnify the Company against all penalties, damages and costs to which the Company may become liable as a result of work done in accordance with the Customer's specifications which:

2.3.1 involves an infringement of a patent, intellectual property or registered design;

2.3.2 involves a contravention of any statutory obligation imposed by applicable health and safety acts.

3. Limit of Contract

A tender includes only such Goods and accessories as are specified herein. The Company reserves the right to make or to have made minor alterations to design or materials which do not affect the satisfactory working of the Goods.

4. Drawings

4.1 All drawings, descriptive matter, weights, dimensions and specifications submitted, and the descriptions and the illustrations contained in the Company's catalogues, pamphlets, price lists and other advertising matter, are approximate and by way of identification only and are intended merely to present a general idea of the Goods described therein; their use shall not, in any circumstances, import a sale by description.

4.2 Certified outline drawings will be supplied if necessary after the acceptance of the tender, but the Company does not undertake to supply copies of detailed drawings. When drawings are submitted for approval, they shall remain the property of the Company and shall be treated as strictly confidential and shall not be divulged to third parties without the Company's written consent and shall be returned immediately upon request by the Company.

5. Sub-Contractors

5.1 Where Goods are shown in the tender as being for supply or execution by persons nominated by the Customer (hereinafter called "Nominated Sub-Contractors")

5.1.1 such supply or execution shall not form part of the Contract;

5.1.2 the Customer shall (unless he shall procure a corresponding indemnity to the Company by the Nominated Sub-Contractors which is acceptable to and accepted by the Company) be deemed to have given to the Company an indemnity:

5.1.2.1 against claims in respect of any negligence by the Nominated Sub-Contractors, their servants or agents, any misuse by them of any scaffolding or other plant, or any breach of statutory duty, or similar claims;

5.1.2.2 against any expense occasioned by the Company in performance of the Contract by reason of delay or defect in the works or goods or the execution or supply of the works or goods the subject of the sub-contract.

6 Tests, Inspection and Performance

6.1 All Goods are carefully inspected and, where applicable, submitted to standard tests before despatch. Physical tests on materials in the presence of the Customer or its representative will not be arranged unless expressly provided for in the Contract. Where such tests are expressly provided for and the Customer fails to attend such tests after seven days' notice that they are ready to be held, the tests shall proceed in the absence of the Customer and shall be deemed to have been made in its presence and shall be recognised by it.

6.2 Any performance figures given by the Company are based upon the Company's experience and are such as the Company expects to obtain under normal conditions of service; and no warranty or guarantee is given or to be implied.

7. Time of Despatch and Installation

Any time quoted by the Company is to be treated as an estimate only and no contractual obligation is to be imparted by such quotation. Time of delivery shall not be of the essence.

In the case of "force majeure", accidents, holidays, shortage of labour, complete or partial stoppage of work, however arising, restriction or cessation of output from any cause, war, strikes, lockouts, disputes, failure to obtain supplies or components, epidemic, pandemic, quarantine, or any other cause whatsoever outside the Company's control, which hinders or prevents the Company from giving delivery or proceeding with the installation, the delivery of the Goods contracted for or its installation may be wholly or partially suspended but not cancelled, except that if the period of suspension exceeds twelve months the Company shall have the right to cancel the contract in respect of Goods undelivered and installation not performed and the contract price shall be apportioned accordingly. For the avoidance of doubt, Force Majeure shall not include (a) financial distress nor the inability of either party to make a profit or avoid a financial loss, (b) changes in market prices or conditions, or (c) a party's financial inability to perform its obligations hereunder.

11.	Acceptance	14.3	Nothing in these conditions excludes or limits the liability of the Company:
	The Goods shall be deemed to have been taken over by the Customer in the case of Goods not requiring installation upon delivery, and in the case of Goods requiring installation when installation is completed (or on completion of tests on site, if such tests are expressly provided for in the contract) or when the Goods have been put into commercial use, whichever may be the earlier; provided that in any case the plant shall be deemed completed two calendar weeks after notice has been given in writing to the Customer purchaser to that effect unless in the meantime tests shall have been made in pursuance of such express provision as aforesaid showing that it is not completed. The date of acceptance shall not be delayed on account of additions, minor omissions or defects which do not materially affect the commercial use of the Goods.	14.3.1	for death or personal injury caused by the Company's negligence; or
		14.3.2	for strict liability; or
		14.3.3	for any matter which it would be illegal for the Company to exclude or attempt to exclude its liability; or

- 15.9 On termination of the Contract, howsoever caused, the Company's (but not the Customer's) rights contained in this condition 15 shall remain in effect.
- 16. Dynamic Loads
- 16.1 The Goods are available in various designs, including isolated and other models commonly identified as "balanced", which affect the total dynamic reaction imposed upon the supporting structure and foundation. Approximate reactions for proposed equipment will be furnished to the Customer upon request and calculated magnitude and frequency limits of dynamic reactions will be shown on general arrangement drawings. Analysis of such reactions relative to deflection, rigidity, strength and loading of supports, as well as the effect of these reactions on the foundation, the transmissibility of the soil and any other environmental aspects are the responsibility solely of the customer.
- 16.2 The Company shall not be responsible for direct or indirect damage caused by these dynamic reactions.

If for any cause outside the control of the Company the progress of the erection work is hindered a charge may be made to cover the additional expense incurred.
- 18. Safety Features
- Acceptance of the tender holds the Customer responsible for maintaining safety features provided by the Company. The Customer accepts the responsibility to not remove, defeat or bypass any safety features provided by the Company, except in the course of normal service and maintenance. When performing service or maintenance, the equipment must be in a zero mechanical state using proper lock-out/tag-out procedures.
- 19. Vibration and Foundation
- Company's general arrangement drawings are to be furnished with the magnitude and frequency of dynamic reactions, along with static loads. Embedded steel is recommended for anchoring Company's vibratory equipment. However, if embedded steel is not available, an anchor bolt option maybe feasible, and, if so, it shall be noted in the general arrangement drawings. The Company is not responsible for vibration transmission to surrounding structures, nor responsible for soil conditions, underground piping, water tables, or other items affecting foundations. Any additional costs for foundation design, building design, or vibration analysis are not within the Company's scope of supply. It is the responsibility of the Customer to ensure that the foundation is adequate to support the Company's vibratory equipment For further information, see FVB's brochure Company's information regarding installation instructions for vibration machines.
- 20. Insurance
- The Company shall not be responsible for the insurance of Goods and accessories specified herein after the date on which, in accordance with condition 11, such Goods are deemed to be taken over by the Customer, but the Company shall insure the same to the full value thereof until the said date.

The place of arbitration is Düsseldorf. The arbitral tribunal shall be comprised of three arbitrators. The language of the arbitration shall be English.

If, despite the arbitration clause in the previous paragraph, ordinary courts have jurisdiction, then place of jurisdiction shall be Düsseldorf; however, the Company shall be entitled to sue the Customer at his general legal venue.

24. Applicable Law

Unless otherwise agreed in writing, the Contract shall, in all respects, be governed by and construed in accordance with German Law, with the exception of §§ 305 – 310 BGB (German Civil Code), the application of which is expressly excluded.

25. Severability

Should individual provisions of the Contract be or become invalid, the remaining provisions shall continue to be in full force and effect. The invalid provision shall automatically be replaced by such other provision coming as close as possible - to the legally permissible extent - to the economic meaning and purpose of the invalid provision.
